- Online "Hall of Fame" (Design)

See also: <https://www.agnesandersen.com/en/agnes-trophy-en/>

Entitled to participate

Students from the fields of art, graphics, design and similar fields of study who have an inscription are eligible. It is also possible to apply as a team and submit the task as a team.

Winner

The winner from the first to the third place will be determined by the end of 2021. 1st place: EUR 500 2nd place EUR 200 3rd place EUR 100.

The announcement is made publicly with the naming of the sponsors.

The design of the winner will be the official Agnes Trophy for the winners of the Andersen Award. A follow-up call for tender after a few years is in principle possible.

First to third price

The first to third price of the Design of the Agnes Trophy will be awarded publicly, naming the sponsors. (Online and/or Offline)

The Andersen Award

The Andersen Award will be awarded for outstanding accounting solutions.

The winners will be awarded by the Agnes Trophy, the Agnes Certificate and the Agnes Stamp.

Winners will be immortalized in the online "Hall of Fame" on the Website: <https://www.agnesandersen.com/>

It starts with the category "Outstanding Software Solutions for Accounting". Companies that offer accounting software solutions will be awarded.

Also software solutions that are compatible with software solutions for accounting and operate upstream and downstream processes.

This includes, for example, tools for sales. Artificial intelligence related to the reading of important data from invoices and documents, workflow managers, document analysis (e.g. for fraud detection), document management systems.

Especially those software solutions that have interfaces to common software solutions for accounting.

It is planned to gradually supplement the categories and thus to award further services in and for the field of accounting.

The award is intended to be given to those companies and individuals, who through their merits, enable companies to design accounting in a high quality and, above all, to save maximum time, space and money.

In this way, companies can concentrate and develop on their core processes, namely their products and services.

In order to ensure that the award also has a desired example effect, awards are held in the context of public events/livestreams. (Online and/or offline)

Competition task

The task of this competition is the artistic design of the Agnes Trophy, the Agnes Certificate, the Agnes Stamp and the Online Hall of Fame.

The Trophy is intended to express the idea of the future of accounting through a contemporary and well thought-out design:

"Bring every company maximum of time, space and money, with up-to-date and correct results from accounting!"

It is possible to get personal information from Agnes Andersen. and to make an appointment for an exchange in the form of a phone call or online meeting.
